Extreme Networks Acquires Avaya's Networking Business

Avaya's networking business has been acquired by Extreme Networks. If you are an Avaya Customer or Business Partner requiring technical support for your Avaya networking products, please continue to use Avaya's Support Website until further notice. Extreme will continue to provide periodic updates on changes to the support process via the Avaya Support Website. This will include contact numbers, login instructions to the Extreme portal, and other important information regarding support for your Avaya products.